- CDT Mexico -

PRICE OF TRAINING / DAILY TRAINING RATE

Technical and cave diving training are performance-based and are charged per day(-s) of training.
(Additional days of training are sometimes necessary.)

- 1 student = $300 USD
- 2 students = $540 USD
- 3 students = $720 USD

THE MEANING OF "PERFORMANCE-BASED TRAINING"

The duration of the training, and the number of dives necessary are performance-based. We train until the students are adequately prepared to plan and dive in an autonomous manner with a teammate without supervision.

Merely performing skills is not enough. Students must show a certain level of mastery in the following fields:

- fundamental skills (breathing, buoyancy control, trim, propulsion)
- dive planning (orientation and route, gas needs & limitations, conservatism)
- awareness (self, global and situational awareness)
- team's dynamics (active & passive communication, positioning, pacing & placing)
- mindset (positive non-egoic motivation, conservatism, etiquette, risk assessment)
- stress recognition & management (capacity of acting rationally under stress)

The evaluation of this qualities, of course, is relative and reflects the perception of the instructor. CDT Mexico instructors are very experienced and specialized in teaching cave and technical divers.

We are caring and conscious of the efforts provided by our students during this demanding course(-s). Surely, we put the bar quite high, but we also help and direct you to reach it in the shortest possible time, always keeping the quality and the safety at the centre of our attention.
